Tuula's program Art and fish board Community house

The big fish cutting board, this exhibition made by twenty children demonstrates the importance of preserving fish, stopping chemicals, depolluting the oceans. Children, with the unique use of the 3 primary colors (yellow, blue and red) managed to show the suffering of fish, giving them a voice.

Veera's drawing is particularly interesting, because as soon as she discovered a new color she filled a box with her fish.

Steinerkindergarten Pohjantähti

Dolls do not have mouths so that children can decide their emotions, they can say that they are happy, sad, worried, they can choose and are not dependent on the emotion of the already present mouth.

The Steiner pedagogy, founded by Rudolf Steiner, emphasizes the individuality of each child, promoting its development through sensory experiences and experimental learning, while emphasizing creativity. Toys are made of wood, plastic is banned, in the canteen dishes are vegetarian and children play most of the time outside.

Kindergarten Martta Wendelin

Päiväkoti Martta Wendelin, Finland's largest solid wood daycare, won the wooden architecture prize in 2023. Welcoming about 200 children in ten groups, it offers versatile and safe spaces, promoting the well-being and development of children. The building meets Nordic environmental standards, even receiving the Nordic Swan Ecolabel in 2022, underscoring its commitment to sustainability and environmental health.

The paintings on the windows are works of the artist Martta Wedelin

Museum Klaavola History of Tuusula

The Klaavola House of the Tuusula Museum shows life on a wealthy farm in the early 20th century in Uusimaa.

The rooms are decorated in the inter-war style with objects from the museum's collections and the former inhabitants of the house.

In addition to the main building, the estate includes a granary, a dairy and a sauna.

The Klaavola farm is mentioned in the history books from the beginning of the 17th century and is one of the oldest properties in the village of Hyökkälä in Tuusula.
